

Surah 68. Al-Qalam

Asad: And, verily, thine shall be a reward neverending -

Malik: and you shall have a never ending reward.

Mustafa Khattab:

You will certainly have a never-ending reward.

Pickthall: And lo! thine verily will be a reward unailing.

Yusuf Ali: Nay verily for thee is a Reward unailing: 5595

5595 - Instead of being out of his right mind, the Prophet of Allah had been raised to a great spiritual dignity, a reward that was not like an earthly reward that passes away, but one that was in the very core of his being, and would never fail him in any circumstances. He was really granted a nature and character far above the shafts of grief or suffering, slander or persecution.
